MERCANTILE AND OTHER HONOR.—The bar will not continue to be the ruling profession amongst us. Power is passing from them, and from our planters and farmers, and into the hands of railroad men, bankers, insurance agents, and the commercial class generally. The men, therefore, engaged in these pursuits, ought to be particularly careful. They are subjected to peculiar temptations. They will not have to go far, either in America or England, to find splendid examples of a high and honorable ambition in the walks of commerce. They are, of course, (as we have remarked,) peculiarly liable to the vice of the age—a wild desire to accumulate riches. We naturally associate the passion with the mercantile life. The very idea of going into commerce implies a purpose to make money. But let us remember the merchant-princes of Venice, of Genoa, of London, of Boston, of New York, and Philadelphia; no profession offers more illustrious instances of culture, refinement, and lofty purpose. Honor has as large a theatre in the mere exchange of one commodity for another as it has in the administration of the laws; there is a mercantile honor that shines with a lustre hardly equalled in any other avocation of life. It is an exceedingly difficult thing to be habitually and scrupulously honest; and there is no finer sight in this world than that of a man engaged in a daily trafficking, who prospers without compromise in any way of his integrity—unless it be that of the unsuccessful merchant who stands erect in the midst of adversity, and goes down at last, baffled and foiled with his accounts all square, and the ledger of his conscience ready for the eye and the inspection of Heaven's chancery.

The twin brother of mercantile honesty is Truth. Thoughtless persons think it an easy matter to speak the truth. There is not one man in ten thousand who does it habitually, and next to the lawyer, perhaps, the merchant has the most frequent temptations to speak "the thing that is not so." Young men in the service of unscrupulous employers must be very severely tried in this way.

Honesty in mercantile life does not mean simply the meeting of one's notes, or the compliance with one's bargains. It is something more than standing to a bargain. It is a very common idea that a man has a right to ask what he pleases for his wares, and that the purchaser is to decide whether he will buy. But it is dishonest to ask more for an article than the owner really believes it to be worth, or take advantage of such donations or requests as may be made by him by charitable persons, and so forth. The honest merchant who, by his example in his business, contributes to the reconciliation of the highest integrity with the greatest success.—Rich. Engle.

CRUSHED TO DEATH IN A CATHEDRAL CLOCK.—The bell-ringer in the Cathedral of Wurtzburg has perished under very singular circumstances. The church possesses a splendid clock, with ponderous and complicated works, while a pendulum of proportionate length vibrates too and fro with a dull and monotonous "thud." Recently the clock needed cleaning, and the ringer was deputed to superintend the work, though he ruefully endeavored to be excused from the task. It seems that he never willingly approached the belfry from certain unpleasant associations.—About twenty years ago he had killed his predecessor in office, accusing him of carrying on a criminal intrigue with his wife. When brought to trial he escaped the gallows owing to a deficiency of legal proof.

The patronage of one of the Canons then procured him the appointment vacant through the death of his victim. Hence, it is said, arose his superstitious dread in connection with the belfry, which was supposed to be haunted by the ghost of the murdered ringer. On the morning when the clock was to be cleaned it was suddenly stopped and the bell-ringer was nowhere to be found. A workman from the town was sent for and ascended the tower, when he was horrified to find the pendulum and lower works dripping with blood. Upon searching further, the body of the bell-ringer was found entangled in the works, frightfully mangled and crushed. One supposition is that he committed suicide by climbing up the pendulum and then pitching himself into the middle of the machinery of the clock.

But the wonder-loving gossips of the place, with a thoroughly German propensity for the horrible, declare that the guilty man, upon reaching the gloomy chamber wherein the works revolved, was horror-struck by the apparition of his murdered predecessor sitting astride the great balance wheel of the clock, and had then been drawn into the works by a species of horrible and irresistible fascination similar to that which the rattlesnake is said to exercise over its prey. There sat the spectre, rubbing its gory hands with hideous glee as the victim was slowly drawn in among the cogged wheels and ratchets of the machinery. An agonized yell, a crushing of bones, and all was still! Such according to the Italian is the newest legend of the belfry of Wurtzburg.

"WHISKY HAS USED HIM UP."—There is scarcely a community or neighborhood from Maine to Oregon where this saying is not used almost every day in the year, and altogether too truly. A subject of this kind is to be found in almost every town. The merchant has failed and whisky has done it. The lawyer with brilliant talent and a large business has fallen below the range of respectability and confidence; whisky was the cause. The politician with bright prospects before him has played out, and the account is charged to whisky. The judge of talent, age and respectability is the subject of private and neighborhood talk. His enemies point with derision, and his friends hang their heads in shame, and whisky has done it. That kind hearted neighbor and hard working man has become a pest in society and trouble to his family. Whisky has beat him. Whisky will beat any man living, and that is just what it is made for.

A NEW CLAIMANT.—A new claimant for Presidential honors appeared at Police Headquarters in Washington yesterday and demanded assistance in obtaining possession of the White House, asserting that he had been elected President of the United States by the people in the place of General Grant. The would-be Executive is a lunatic, and was furnished transportation to Pawtucket, R. I., of which place he is a resident.

FINANCIAL.

7-30 GOLD LOAN
—OF THE—
Northern Pacific Railroad Co.
RAPID PROGRESS OF THE WORK.

The building of the Northern Pacific Railroad (begun July last) is being pushed forward with great energy from both extremities of the line. Several thousand men are employed in Minnesota and on the Pacific coast. The grade is nearly completed 266 miles westward from Lake Superior; trains are running over 130 miles of finished road, and track-laying is rapidly progressing toward the eastern border of Dakota. Including its purchase of the St. Paul & Pacific Road, the Northern Pacific Company now has 413 miles of completed road, and by September next this will be increased to at least 560.

A GOOD INVESTMENT.—Jay Cooke & Co. are now selling, and unhesitatingly recommending, as a profitable and perfectly safe investment, the First Mortgage Land Grant (Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company). They have 30 years to run, bear Seven and Three-Tenths per cent. gold interest (more than 8 per cent. currency) and are secured by first and only mortgage on the entire road and its equipments, and also, as fast as the Road is completed, on 23,000 ACRES OF LAND to every mile of track, or 500 Acres for each $1,000 Bond. They are exempt from U. S. Tax; Principal and Interest are payable in gold, and by September 1st next will be increased to at least $60.

LANDS FOR BONDS.—Northern Pacific 7-30s are at all times receivable at 100 PER CENT. ABOVE PAR, in exchange for the Company's Bonds at their lowest cash price. This renders them practically INTEREST BEARING LAND WARRANTS.

SINKING FUND.—The proceeds of all sales of Lands are required to be devoted to the redemption and amortization of the First Mortgage Bonds of the Company. The Land Grant of the Road exceeds Fifty Million Acres. This immense Sinking Fund will undoubtedly cancel the principal of the Company's bonded debt before it falls due. With their ample security and high rate of interest, there is no investment, accessible to the people, which is more PROFITABLE OR SAFE.

EXCHANGING U. S. FIVE-TWENTIES. The success of the New Government 5 per cent. Loan will compel the early surrender of United States 5 per cents. Many holders of Five-Twenties are now exchanging them for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties, thus realizing a handsome profit, and greatly increasing their yearly income.

OTHER SECURITIES.—All marketable Stocks and Bonds will be received at their current market prices in exchange for Northern Pacific Seven-Thirties. EXPRESS CHARGES ON Money or Bonds received, and on Seven-Thirties sent in return, will be paid by the Financial Agents. Full information, maps, pamphlets, etc., can be obtained on application to their agency, or from the undersigned. For sale by

UNSETTLED WAR CLAIMS.
AT ITS LAST SESSION CONGRESS, AS an amendment to the army appropriation bill, directed the President to appoint a commission to ascertain and adjust the claims of all loyal citizens in the South for Quartermaster and Commissary supplies furnished to the United States during the war. Under the head of quartermaster are included hay, straw, wool, roots of houses and lots, grain, horses and mules, &c. As commissary stores are included cattle and hogs, flour, corn meal, &c. As yet the rules which will be adopted by the commission concerning proof of loyalty and the furnishing of supplies are unknown. It is very necessary, however, that all claimants should have their claims presented at once, so as to have whatever benefit may result from priority of application, if any.

The undersigned will receive and promptly attend to all claims of parties who claim themselves entitled to compensation under the above act of Congress.

Congress having just passed an act creating a commission to examine claims of loyal citizens of the South for stores or supplies taken or furnished for the use of the army of the United States during the late war, the undersigned, HARLES WHITTESEY, late Attorney General of the State of Virginia, and WESTEL WILLOUGHBY, late Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, having associated themselves together for the purpose of giving special attention to this class of claims, offer to prosecute such claims, and hereby solicit the attention of claimants to their facilities for securing successful results. CHARLES WHITTESEY,
UNITED STATES COMMISSIONER,
—AND—
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR IN BANKRUPTCY.

Congress having just amended the Bankrupt law so that nearly all parties can be discharged from their debts unobstructed by the fifty per cent. clause, so-called, another opportunity offers to secure the benefits of this most effective and permanent measure of relief. The above-named will make bankrupt business a specialty; will procure discharges on the most moderate terms, and transact all business in that line at prices which cannot fail to be satisfactory. Being United States Commissioner he will endeavor to visit the different counties on court days, and thus save parties the trouble and expense of several trips to Alexandria in beginning and proceeding with their cases. Discharges can be obtained here before Register Hill as promptly as in Richmond or elsewhere, and at much less expense to parties. All who may be interested in the Bankrupt act, in connection with the Homestead exemption, which it is now believed will be secured to the bankrupt under the bankrupt law, is the only real relief now offered to parties struggling in the hopeless bondage of old debts.
